AMERICANA BOOKS

CATALOGUE #1
FROM SEA TO SHINING SEA

WELCOME...

to DAVID A. HAMILTON / AMERICANA BOOKS' first printed catalog, "From Sea to Shining Sea." For it we have selected 50 items from our inventory reflecting the breadth of American history, literature, art, music, and recreation.

AMERICANA BOOKS began part-time in 1993, based on the belief that our country's varied cultures, life experiences, conflicts, and celebrations have been blended together over time into a national tapestry, a weave that not only reflects who we have been but also defines who we will become. Now, as full-time booksellers, we are as passionate as ever about preserving the books, ephemera, and handwritten materials of the past, and providing our customers with the opportunity to touch, handle and visualize the artifacts of our nation's history in their original form.

And so we are pleased to be issuing our first printed catalog,
which we hope you will find interesting reading.
We look forward to hearing your feedback!

We are available by appointment at our location in Stone Mountain, Georgia. We also travel around the country exhibiting at various regional book fairs and meeting our customers in person.

2. [Anon]. Diary for 1875 & 1876. (Including 6 pages of first hand account describing a visit to the 1876 Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia). $400

[Parsippany, New Jersey], 1875-1876. Approx. 8" x 6.5" diary with 193 pages of diary entries starting January 1st, 1875 and concluding December 31st, 1876. Diary has reddish marbled paper covered boards, black leather spine, joints and corners.

Leather on spine is chipped and worn. Light edgewear to boards. Rear hinge is cracked. Front hinge tender but holding. Following the diary entry for December 31st, 1876 are 4 pages of content with recorded deaths, births, and marriages. The last two pages have been updated to 1901 for the death records.

The unidentified writer of this diary appears to have been employed by "Mr. and Mrs. Cole" as the majority of entries list their names. One entry discusses being paid by Mr. Cole. Mr. Cole, quite possibly the Rev. Isaac Wesley Cole, is listed in the back of this diary with recorded birth and death dates, Nov. 4th, 1820-March 29, 1899.

A first-hand account of the 1876 Philadelphia Centennial Exposition is included in the diary on pages 172-176. The writer describes his travel and visits to various exhibits at the Centennial Exposition. The group left for the Exposition on October 31st on the "Pennsylvania R. R., crossed the Delaware at Trenton [and] reached the ground near 1pm," then traveled to the Centennial grounds via street cars visiting the "Main Building" first, where they viewed minerals, precious stones, Japanese and Chinese silks, suits, a gigantic lizard and more. The group also visited exhibits in the Machinery Hall, Agricultural Hall, Kansas and Colorado buildings, Women's Pavilion, Horticultural Hall and other places, all described here. The trip ended on November 2nd.

The majority of the entries are very legible and describe weather conditions, receiving visitors, traveling, doing household chores, visiting families and attending Church services, with references to listening to Mr. Cole's and other preachers' sermons. Many of the visitor names and friends are preceded by "Sister" and "Brother." The name "Charity" is recorded in several entries by the writer and may have been an employee, close associate, or related to the Coles. Locations mentioned include towns and cities in the New Jersey area including Jersey City, Morristown, Whippany, and Bloomingdale. The first page after the last diary entry has the heading, "Died on the Bloomingdale charge." This page has 14 names and the date each person was buried. The last 3 pages consist of family? birth, death and marriage records. The most common names listed there are Clark, Cole, Hoyt, and Howell.

3. Brant, Captain (Joseph). The Gospel According to St. Mark, Translated into the Mohawk Tongue, by Captain Brant. As Also Several Portions of the Sacred Scriptures, Translated into the Same Language. $2,000

23. [Memory Album][Hammond, Mary]. 1855-79 Memory Album Dublin, Indiana. $350

Dublin, Indiana, 1855-79. 6.5" x 7.75" Memory Album. 6 steel engravings. Unpaginated. Bound in dark leather with floral embossed designs on the covers and spine. "Album" title on spine. Gilt edges. Leather is chipped at head and base of spine. A section of the upper spine is cracked.

The album contains 19 pages of entries, most from the small community of Dublin, Indiana. All are dated between 1855-1865, except one from 1879. Several pages inside the album are blank. Laid into the Memory Album are 3 sheets and one folded sheet of paper with handwritten information about the Mt. Carmel Methodist Church in Franklin County, Indiana. This brief manuscript references the year 1915 in the content and documents part of the pioneer class of the Church, ministers who lived in the old parsonage, and local church and family histories.

24. [Memory Album][Gunter, Miss Emelie]. 1861-1867 Civil War Era Memory Album, Augusta, Georgia. $500

Augusta, Georgia , 1861-1867. 8vo. Approx. 9" by 7 1/5". [80] sheets, 8 steel engravings. Black leather binding with gilt tooled title and designs on boards and spine. Front hinge cracked and is loose. A few of the binding signatures are pulling loose from binding resulting in some loose pages. Leather is chipped at the head and base of the spine. Light to moderate scattered foxing to steel engravings. One page has a pasted down clipped art illustration. Over half of the sheets are used. A few of the verses have nice cursive script drawings.

The majority of the signed verse contributions come from Augusta. Locations mentioned in the album include Charleston, Bedford County Virginia, Atlanta, Canton Georgia, and other places. Many of the inscriptions are dated between 1861 to 1865. Augusta was spared from the heavy fighting during the War. The city surrendered to the Federals on May 3rd, 1865.

Album includes a 6 1/5" by 4" cabinet card image of girl, quite possibly Miss Emelie Gunter. The photograph was taken by the Pelot & Cole's Photographic Gallery, 192 Broadway, Augusta. No information has yet been found on the family of Miss Emelie Gunter. A few of the names signed inside the album are connected to Augusta in the 1860s.

25. [Missionaries of the Society of Jesus]. Prayers in the Crow Indian Language. $200

De Smet Mission, Idaho: De Smet Mission Print, 1891. First Edition. 8vo. [1], 17 pages. Wraps. Title on outer white wrap in English. Interior content in the Crow Indian Language. [SEE IMAGE, FOLLOWING PAGE]

27. [Mr. Alfred Sprague Dr.?]. 1826 Langdon Lottery Society Ledger, 1846-1851. Diary Entries, 1835-1851. Misc. Ledger Entries.

Royalton, Vermont?, 1826-1851. 7" x 5" ledger with blueish paper-covered boards and brown leather spine. Ledger consists of [92] sheets or 184 pages including 4 tipped in blue pages. Most all pages are filled with content. Some chipping and hand written math on the paper covered boards. A couple of loose pages and some more pages starting to pull loose from binding. Entries are interspersed with lottery, diary, and store ledger records from Royalton, Vermont? area. Other locations recorded include Boston, Bethel, and Randolph. Pages are not numbered and often the contents on the pages are not sequential in date. Periodically the ledger has to be turned "upside down" in order to read the contents. The name of Mr. Alfred Sprague Dr. is written on the right front end sheet.

The front and earliest dated section of this ledger consists of 33 pages of the "Langdon Lottery Society" with records, names of officers, and by-laws of the organization. The lottery society, founded in 1826, was located near Walpole, New Hampshire. These entries are often interrupted between pages with later store ledger records from the 1830s, '40s and '50s. The lottery section lists people's names and the various lotteries the group participated in including; Windsor lottery, Grand State lottery, Dismal Swamp lottery, Washington Lodge lottery, Vermont Consolidated lottery, Hampton (Vermont) lottery, Brattleborough lottery, State lottery of Maryland, Rhode Island lottery, and Pennsylvania lottery. There are several more pages of store records in the middle and back sections of the ledger. Diary entries (18pp.) run December 1st, 1846-February 18th, 1847. Diary content after 1847 records weather, activities, travel, and business conducted for the day.

33. Paton, James E. (2nd Kentucky Regiment). Civil War Confederate Diary, Military Prison Camp. Morton, Indiana, July 1st, 1862 to August 4th, 1862. $10,000

[Camp Morton]: James E. Paton, 1862. First Edition. Approx. 6" x 3.5" brown leather ledger. 60 numbered hand written manuscript pages., plus [6] hand written pages titled "A list of officers and privates in Co. G. when first organized." Entire 66 pages of text is loose from covers but has been well protected. No tears or missing pages.

Private James E. Paton joined the 2nd Kentucky Regiment in 1861. His reasons for joining the Confederate Army are written on the first two pages. He states "for freedom from Northern tyranny and despotism, and to help drive back the invaders, and despoilers of Southern homes and institutions and to battle for for those ? and priceless rights which were fought for, and obtained by our forefathers and bequeathed to us." The entries in the diary were written while Paton was in prison at Camp Morton. While in prison he writes about events recalled from his training period in 1861 including the unprovoked shooting death of a friend in training, marching, weather conditions, food, etc.

On page 3 of the diary , Paton recalls "The first encampment of the Regt. which I joined (2nd Ky Col. R. W. Hansen) was in Tennessee a few miles from the Ky line and about 9 miles from Clarksville Tenn. Here I commenced studying the art of soldiering." From Sept. 12th to Feb 1st Paton was in Nashville recovering from torn ligaments in his foot. He lists by name those people who were very helpful to him during his stay in Nashville.

In February 1862 Paton's Regiment is preparing for the Battle of Fort Donelson. "Feby 16th — We were aroused from sweet slumber about 3 o' clock A. M. It was cold, bitter cold with snow on the ground but we cared not for the personal comforts, our thoughts were of the conflicts of the approaching day. Breakfaststep we were soon in line of Battle when we took up our march to a point two miles on the left, where we arrived about sunrise. The Ball had already commenced, the Battle was hotly raging and we were stationed on a hill-side as a reserve, and here the Bomb shells bursted around, over & among us, killing and wounding several. It was here Lieut Hill of Co. F received a mortal wound from a cannon ball. While here many distressing and, heart rending scenes were presented. The wounded horribly mangled and carried from the Battle field uttered hideous death cries which was enough to make the stoutest heart curdle in ones veins, the dead and dying were seen on every side, and in our very midst, and many things which the poverty of language prevents an adequate description. Scenes that would try the courage of the Bravest of the Brave.”

Feb 17th, Sunday Paton and his Regiment were surrounded “by at least 60,000 men.” General Buckner declined the regiments willingness to cut through the lines and “at early dawn the white flag was seen waving from our breast works.” Paton goes on to describe in the manuscript the capture scene, prisoner transports on rail cars, opinions regarding General Buckner, commenting “Camp Morton that Hell on earth.”, plans to escape, information obtained about the federals defeat in front of Richmond, etc.

The final entry, August 4th is very descriptive of Paton’s Southern patriotism; “The rumors, probabilities of an exchange are now reduced to certainty. Gladly we hail the happy day! I willingly go again to mingle in the bloody scenes of the battle field and I know say to the Indianians Beware of the 2nd Ky. They know how to resent the many wrongs they have received from you, and they will do it. The oath of allegiance is again offered But I am happy to say that there are very few here who will resort to such depths of degradation & cowardice as to accept the offer. Friends in Kentucky adue (sic) for a while. I willingly go again to lend a helping hand for Southern Rights, Southern Independence, Southern Liberty. Should I fall bleeding upon the alter of my adopted country I do so knowing that I fell in defense of Southern homes, of honor, and of all that is just & right, battling against a merciless and invading foe. But I hope soon to hail the happy day when National troubles will have ended, when the “Confederate States of America will be a victories Nation, & the brightest star among all the great nations of the earth when honest men can live in Kentucky free from the clanking chains of Northern despotism.”

The last 6 pages of the diary list the officers and privates in Paton's company, including Paton's promotion to 1st Sergeant. He also records some notes next to the soldiers' names regarding their status including killed, wounded, deserted, amnesty, promoted, slightly wounded, etc. This list was compiled after Paton's experience in Prison. His list and notes record some of the men killed in Battle at Chickamauga, Resaca, Dallas (Georgia), and other battles that took place after August 1862.

The 2nd Kentucky Regiment was organized in August 1861 at Camp Boone in Montgomery County Tennessee and became part of the Orphan Brigade. The regiment fought in the Battles of Murfreesboro, Chickamauga and the Atlanta Campaign. The regiment surrendered April 26th, 1865 at Washington Georgia.

37. Smith, Eugene Ferry. Two volumes: Colorado Mine Field Ledger, California Furnace Tests, and Survey Data 1907-1910.

$1,000

Berkeley: Eugene Ferry Smith, 1907-1910. Two 7" x 4.5" soft leather manuscript ledger volumes. Leather is rubbed on cover edges. Old repair to hinges. Dates of ledger entries range from 1907 to 1910.

Volume 1 has 109 pages of manuscript text and hand drawn illustrations, ranging from a few notes to the entire page being used. The contents of the ledger are listed on the front cover and indexed with page numbers on the first page. Title headings include "An Account of the Trip of one Eugene Ferry Smith from Berkeley, Cal. to the 'OK' Mine in Central City, Colorado, with Cash acct. addended thereto, for said trip.; Notes on Geology Trip to Nevada City Calif.; A Trip to Mesa Grande, Col. - Tourmaline Mine; A Trip to Palo, Col. - Fletcher Tourmaline Mines; Surveying Notes, & Min. Bldg."

Volume 2 has 98 pages used for handwritten entries and illustrations. Index of headings on page 2 includes "Trip to Heroult, Shasta County, Col.; Trip to Mammoth, Shasta County, Col.; General Descriptive; Work for U.S. Forest Service, Berkeley, Col; 2nd Trip to Heroult, Col.; Charcoal Tests - Stake Contract U.C.C.E. Dept.; Survey for Dennis Moran and Levi Kincaid Rho de la Nacion San Diego County, Cal."

Much of the content is in diary form and scientific in nature. Volume 1 is mostly about Colorado mines. Volume 2 discusses furnaces and "Charcoal" tests in California. Smith provides extensive details on his trips, studies and processes using several geological and chemistry terms in both volumes. Both volumes have several hand drawn illustrations.

Eugene Ferry Smith, born March 11th, 1887, was a mining engineer and lawyer. After graduating from high school in San Diego he attended the University of California in 1904. He studied mining engineering and graduated from the department in 1909. After graduation he found work at the Noble Electric Steel Company in Heroult, Shasta County, California for one year. He then left his position to become a draftsman in the Department of Civil Engineering at the University of California for four months and subsequently worked for the United States Forest Service for six months in the timber testing department. In February 1911 Eugene Smith returned to San Diego to study law. [Reference Volume 2, "A Record of San Diego and Imperial counties, California" by William Ellsworth Smythe.]
